Lord Seabuckthorn -Hippophae rhamnoides 'Lord'

Sea buckthorn's silvery leaves and bright orange berries make it a beautiful landscape choice.

It is dioecious and therefore you will need to plan for at least 1 male and 1 female shrub if your goal is to have fruits. A general rule of thumb is to plant males so that predominant springtime winds will carry the pollen to the females. In larger plantations we recommend a 1:6 or 1:10 - M:F ratio.
