Echinacea Sombrero Salsa Red

Intense, red daisy-like flowers with dark cones, produced on strong, well branched stems.

Attractive to butterflies and bees Echinacea Salsa Red is free bloomer from mid-summer, for months until fall. The petals retain color, bright red and stunning in groupings along Agastache, Phlox and Sedum. Sombrero Salsa Red Coneflower is lightly-scented and the flowers are excellent for cutting. Echinacea purpurea, commonly known as purple coneflower, is an herbaceous perennial that is native to the central to southeastern United States. Easy-to-grow plants tolerant of drought, heat, humidity and poor soil. They bloom with showy, daisy-like flowers from mid-summer until first frost. Fundamental flower for the perennial border, natural meadow, butterfly or pollinator garden, or native wildflower garden.
